

Reclaiming Wholeness

A WORKSHOP WITH JULIA WOLFSON

Transform and Empower in Action

26,27 October 2010

Crossfields Institute

Contact

E: simon@crossfieldsinstitute.com

T: +44 (0) 1453 818 808

W: www.crossfieldsinstitute.com/wholeness.html

Reclaiming Wholeness

In many parts of the world people with complex needs are at last gaining greater autonomy, participation and choice towards a self-directed life in the good company of others. This workshop will introduce the Transform and Empower approach to diversity, care and innovation with and for people with complex needs.

The Transform and Empower approach invites the perspectives of people with complex needs, who have traditionally had the least voice, to set the tone for creative, strength-based solutions: to lead a great life that is a safe life. www.turningforward.org

Who is it for?

This workshop is suited to practitioners, teachers, tutors, leaders, administrators, specialists and community builders, or anyone with an interest in improving or developing high quality of practice. CPD certificates are available.

Workshop style

The workshop will include presentations, stories, small group work, creative experiences and interactive activities. There will also be time for personal reflection and opportunities to share and network with others.

At this workshop you will be able to

- Learn the value of the Council on Quality and Leadership's Personal Outcome Measures® tool for gathering information from people and their supporters as a basis for measuring quality outcomes in people's lives.
- Discover how your organisation can facilitate quality enhancement for people through the use of this tool in combination with your own approaches.
- Experience Transform and Empower approaches to diversity work in groups, communities and organisations.

Personal Outcome Measures®

The Personal Outcome Measures® (POM) developed by Council on Quality and Leadership (CQL) cover specific, universally valued needs. CQL's listening and discovery tool provides an accurate measure for ensuring that people's experience of their own life is the heartbeat of responsive supports and systems. www.thecouncil.org

About the facilitator

Julia Wolfson has developed the Transform and Empower approach over three decades in communities and organisations that serve people with complex needs around the world. Julia holds a Masters degree in Social Ecology majoring in organisational development.

Venue

Egypt Mill, in Nailsworth, Gloucestershire, is full of Cotswold charm and offers a wonderful venue.

Cost

The cost of the workshop is £250. A reduced fee of £200 is available for affiliates of Crossfields Institute and students, or for bookings received by August 2010. Fee includes refreshments but not accommodation or meals.

Booking and information

This workshop is being organised by Crossfields Institute. To book or for more information about the workshop please contact Simon Reakes on the above details.

Crossfields Institute is licensed and accredited by Edexcel, the UK's largest awarding body. Crossfields Institute offers to develop new recognised awards and qualifications that reflect the vision, methods and philosophy of the individual education provider. www.crossfieldsinstitute.com